■ You don't have to speak Boolean (or even know how to spell it!)

No "ifs", "ands" or "nots!" – you don't have to use cryptic computer language to get the information you need. Our natural language search option means you search the way you think. You can enter actual phrases as well as words. Or, you can use custom templates that allow for variations in spacing, punctuation, and parenthesis.

■ Streamline your thinking

You can experience "information overload" if you are given too many results. No problem – the "search-within-a-search" function features a Locate option that searches the body of the documents in your list to find you just what you need.

■ Think outside the box

InsolvencySource™ lets you find your own unique method of solving your research problem. Choose your starting point to browse, search, or find case law, legislation, digests, or commentary. Find a case by name or citation or section number directly from the Home Page. Retrieve legislation from the Home Page by name or by section number.

■ Follow your train of thought

The Research Trail function answers the question "How did I get here from there?" Retrace where you've been, return to previous documents, or email an outline of your research session to a coworker – mind mapping made easy!

■ Keep pace with a steady stream of practice information

Opinions and decisions are changing and events are happening so fast that it's hard to keep up. Take advantage of the clipping service, bulletin boards, and current awareness tools, such as Abridgment eDigests (Bankruptcy and Insolvency) available in InsolvencySource™. They let you keep up with events as they happen – and let you follow them with minimal effort.

■ Get constant reminders

You have enough to remember – let InsolvencySource™ do the work for you! Set up a WestClip and it will update your search as often as you wish! It will watch for current information while you move on to other work.

Powerful search tools offer you the versatility and flexibility to work in all the ways you think. Approach a problem creatively by choosing different starting points for your research – and branch off in different directions along the way. Narrow your search for a more analytic, focused approach. Ultimately, InsolvencySource™ takes you in as many directions as your thought process – and the Research Trail gives you a mind map of your research route.
