Why KeyCite® Alert?

Use KeyCite® Alert to stay current on particular cases or legislation.

Be notified, as soon as possible, if a case you are tracking is no longer good law, or if a case, statute or rule has been interpreted or a discussed in a new case or commentary.

WestClip®

- You or your legal research staff want to know all pertinent information on an issue.
- You monitor a variety of case law, statutes and rules, commentary, news and media outlets on the issue. WestClip® lets you run up to 99 queries at one time.
- You can automatically search thousands of WestlaweCARSWELL and Westlaw databases
- You can specify your preferences to search only headlines and lead paragraphs, catch abbreviations and case sensitive terms, select a minimum number of times a term must appear in a document.
- You will be notified daily, weekly, biweekly or monthly of all new relevant documents that deal with the issue.
- Notifications will arrive via e-mail or a wireless device; can be sent to your printer or fax machine; or be automatically saved on your computer's hard drive.
- WestClip®'s intuitive format will allow you to locate on-point documents: a citations list that highlights search terms and surrounding text, duplicate and near-duplicate documents are clearly marked
- Only WestClip® provides you with the most efficient and comprehensive way to stay up to date on any issue of interest to you.

KeyCite® Alert

- You or your legal research staff want to know if a particular case you wish to rely on in a legal argument is good law, or if a statute section you plan to use has been discussed in a recent legal decision or piece of commentary. You intend to use this information in one of your key arguments to defend a client.
- You can be notified (daily, weekday, weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly) only if there is any new discussion of a particular case, statute, or rule.
- Notifications will arrive via e-mail or a wireless device, can be sent to your printer, fax machine, or be automatically saved on your computer's disk drive.
- You can rely on Thomson Carswell's editorial staff to scan every decision to identify correct case and legislation references and to make sure that different but similarly named cases and legislation are correctly distinguished from one another.
- You will be notified of all references and only correct references. Thomson Carswell's editorial staff ensures that no results are missed and that no time is wasted tracking down false hits.
- Only KeyCite® Alert tells you right away and only if there has been a development for a particular case and/or legislation.
